hermit crabs, and sea snails. Visitors can have an up-close encounter while volunteers answer questions and reveal fascinating facts about the animals in the exhibit.

The second most popular attraction is the 50,000 gallon aquarium with Texas-size fish. The fish that call the Gulf of Mexico tank home include a six-foot long state record Green moray eel, Crevalle jack, Redfish, Atlantic spadefish, gray snapper, and red snapper. At 10:30 a.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays, the aquarium fish and visitors both get treated as the fish get fed and visitors get to view the feeding frenzy.

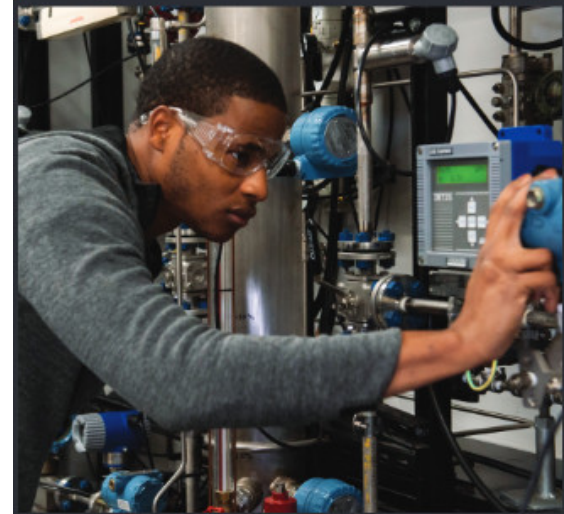

In addition to the Gulf exhibit, there are several other aquariums that each houses their own unique underwater marvels. From the frisky diamondback turtles that swim up to greet you to the slow moving and lackadaisical snook hanging by a jetty rock to the inquisitive porcupine puffer in the artificial reef, visitors will be able to discover the many different faces of Texas coastal environments.

The site is also a popular destination for schools, scouts and groups. There are a variety of education programs including hatchery tours, wetland tours and other programs that Sea Center offers. The facility depends on a limited number of volunteers to conduct tours and programs so call in advance for reservations.

During the hatchery tours, participants are led through one of the largest red fish hatcheries in the world. Visitors will be astonished when they see the huge 20-30 pound fish that produce millions of red drum and spotted sea trout hatchlings that are so tiny you almost need a microscope to view them. The hatchlings are transferred to ponds where they are able to grow in a protected environment before they are transferred to the bays along the Texas coast. Hatchery tours, which last about 45 minutes, are scheduled Tuesdays through Saturdays as space and volunteer guides are available.

In addition to guided hatchery tours, the site offers self-guided tours of the wetland exhibits and a variety of special events and fishing programs. Admission is free but donations are appreciated. For more information call (979) 292-0100 or visit www.tpwd.texas.gov/seacenter. Closed on Mondays.

Bait (either live or dead) can be easily purchased from one of many local bait camps.

Another fishing opportunity that is extremely popular in this area occurs in the Gulf of Mexico. Freeport is located in a prime location along the Texas Coast. The close proximity to deeper water as well as near shore fishing make Freeport the best choice for deep sea fishing in this state. There are a number of private charter boats available for groups of all sizes. Some of the deeper water species of fish available to the offshore fisherman include Red Snapper (when in season), several species of Grouper, King Mackerel, Amberjack, Dolphin, Wahoo, Tuna, Cobia (Ling), as well as many others. Popular baits for these deep-water species include numerous live baits (Pinfish, Blue Runners, etc.), Ballyhoo, Cigar Minnows, Squid, Boston Mackerel, and Spanish Sardines.

Fishing in state waters is also an option to the offshore fisherman. You must be within 9 nautical miles of the closest point on land to be considered in state waters. Red Snapper, Cobia, King Mackerel, Spanish Mackerel, numerous Shark species, Red Drum, and even Tarpon can be taken in this area with summer and early fall being the most productive. The fishing regulations and seasons for offshore fish species is constantly changing, so make sure that your guide/captain has the latest set of federal regulations.

Fishing tackle for all of the above types of fishing can be purchased from either sporting goods stores, convenience stores near the beach, or any of the numerous bait shops in the Area. Everyone 17 and older must have a valid Texas fishing license.

For the weekend fishermen or the serious angler, the Brazosport area has fishing opportunities for everyone. So, if you have lived in the area all of your life or are just visiting, taking advantage of a chance to go fishing will likely pay off.

Birding

The Brazosport Area has an abundance of quality locations where anyone can go birding.

Brazosport lies in the Central Flyway so it includes birds that migrate across the Gulf of Mexico and the coastal migrants that fly around the western edge of the gulf. This, combined with varied habitats and a mild climate provide excellent birding year round with the best times being spring and winter. This area sits on a coastal plain characterized by prairies, riparian hardwood forests, and an abundance of marshes, lakes, bays and the Gulf shoreline. Texas is the top birding state in the US with more species documented than any other and Brazoria County, where the Brazosport Area is located, is among the counties with the highest species counts in the state. Over 320 species of birds are common in proper habitat and season. And there are at least 100 more that are rarer and not so readily located.

Opportunities abound for getting out and seeing birds in this area. The Brazoria and the San Bernard National Wildlife Refuges both have excellent driving loops, many wooded trails and wetlands that are ideal for birding. The Gulf Coast Bird Observatory (GCBO) has trails, an observation tower, a wetland area and several gardens landscaped for birds. The Quintana Neotropic Bird Sanctuary is another great option. It is open year around but spring and fall are the best times to see birds there. During the month of April, the GCBO runs a host station at Quintana and leads bird walks once or twice a day.

The Brazosport Area has numerous sites on the Upper Texas Coast portion of the Great Texas Coastal Birding Trail (GTCBT). Each location has a brown GTCBT sign along with a site number that corresponds with the GTCBT map to aid birders. Maps are available at the Brazosport Area Chamber of Commerce. The Brazosport Birders, a local birding organization, produce a checklist that includes locations on a map, driving directions, most common types of birds seen, and facilities available. This checklist is available at the GCBO and the Quintana Neotropic Bird Sanctuary.

This is the gulf coast so when venturing out on a birding expedition, be prepared by taking lots of drinking water and always include sunscreen and insect repellent in your gear.

For more information about birding sites in the Brazosport Area please go to www.visitbrazosport.com/birding.

Gulf Prairie Presbyterian Church & Cemetery

Stephen F. Austin, the Father of Texas, was originally buried at this pioneer cemetery in Jones Creek. The cemetery was part of the Peach Point Plantation, which Austin considered to be his only home in Texas. The Plantation was the home of Austin's sister Emily Austin Bryan Perry. He is now buried in the state cemetery in Austin but his tomb remains here. 231 Gulf Prairie Dr., Jones Creek. 979-233-2464

Quintana Island Bird Sanctuary

Witness migration firsthand in the spring or fall. The sanctuary is full of salt cedars, beach dunes, gulf frontage and brackish marshes and on certain fallout days every bush is full of migrants. This quaint beach community is one of the hottest birding spots on the Texas Gulf Coast. During April the Gulf Coast Bird Observatory staff and volunteers provide local birding information, bird checklists, lead tours, and help identify birds for novice birders. Observation tower and trails open daily sunrise to sunset. www.gcbo.org/land-protection/gcbo-owned-land

Surfing

Surfside Beach's moderate climate and gulf waves make for some of the best surfing conditions on the Texas coast. Waves are generally small to moderate and perfect for novice or less experienced surfers. Get your surf gear or rent a board at Breaker Sports, Beach Front RV Resort or Explore More Boards in Surfside Beach.

Make sure to visit in September for the Xtreme Hummingbird Xtravaganza where you will see thumb-sized hummers dart in and out of nectar producing flowers and feeders. Self-guided nature trails are open Monday – Friday from 8:30 am to 4:00 pm and on weekends by appointment. Located at 299 W. Highway 332 in Lake Jackson. www.gcbo.org

Brazoria County Historical Museum

Brazosport is where Texas history began. It is where the group known as Stephen F. Austin's "Old 300" first stepped off the schooner "Lively," near the mouth of the Brazos River in 1821. Their hardships and sacrifices were rewarded with the signing of the Treaties of Velasco, which gave Texas its independence from Mexico. The museum has an extensive Austin Colony exhibit and chronicles the events leading to freedom from Mexico. Brazosport is also included in the Texas Independence Trail Region, a Texas Heritage Trails Program that outlines the saga of Texas independence. Closed Sundays. 100 East Cedar, Angleton.
